CAMPAIGN ALERT

DMC RNs delivered Nurses' message to Governor Jennifer Granholm

DMC RNs Frankie Moore and Linda Cross of Hutzel Hospital met with Governor Jennifer Granholm at the Capitol in Lansing on Thursday evening, October 25. They delivered postcards from registered nurses across the state of Michigan.

Nurses from all over the state – nearly 1,000 in all – sent a message to Gov. Granholm:

- we support the DMC nurses and their right to form a union with MNA
- voice your concern to Mike Duggan about his anti-union tactics and urge him to agree to a Fair Election Process

REGISTERED NURSES DESERVE A VOICE!

Dear Governor Granholm,

As one of the 117,000 registered nurses in the state of Michigan, I am writing in support of the Registered Nurses at Detroit Medical Center and their right to form a union with the Michigan Nurses Association.

Unfortunately, DMC CEO Mike Duggan and his administration have launched an aggressive anti-union campaign, diverting time and resources away from patient care to battle the nurses who are advocating for their patients.

I ask you to voice your concern to Mike Duggan about his anti-union tactics and urge him to agree to a Fair Election Process with the Michigan Nurses Association.

Thank you, in advance, for your support.
